Each creature, family, community, country, planet, star, solar system, galaxy, universe.. Etc.. has its own environment.. In this research/presentation I will fly with you through out the universes starting of the history of how our (humans) knowledge has evolved to know our planet and its surroundings to our latest theories of how do we see our universe and my humble vision of assuming that it's not one universe that came from nothing (before what is called the big bang theory) Then landing on our planet Earth and again with it's own environment that has evolved through out the time, Carring us in a small portion of its lifetime, and how we have evolved on too dealing with its environment, how much we have managed so far and my vision to our better environment and sustainable development with regards to the conference topics; water with its scarceness, wastes with its accumulation & risk & usages and energy with its varieties & advantages & disadvantages.
