E-BABE- Personalized smile design

Braulio Paolucci

Private Practice, Brazil

In modern world people is searching more and more a perfect smile believing that it is important for the successful life in social and professional aspects. But it is very common to observe standard smiles done with the same shapes for different patients disregarding aspects of their identity. In this work the main objective is to use the elements of visual language, as shapes and lines, to create personalized smile design according to the psychological tips of each patient. The results have been shown very interesting once it takes into consideration not only the esthetic rules, but also the integration of the new smile to face and personality, the too principal elements of the each identity. This approach brings to the patients not only a beautiful smile but psychological comfort.
