Dentistry is changing quicker than we think

Laura Boggitt
Dental Practice Management, Canada

Some dentists are profiting from retooling their practices to become leaner, smarter operations. But too many practices are still on the sidelines, trying to understand the options. Make the decision to invest in your top people – office manager, spouse, or a senior team member. This program is not for everyone – just your best. Better Practice Management Inc. has developed a seminar series designed to provide meaningful training and support for the Dental Office Manager. The audience can receive training in leadership skills, the business of dentistry, how to manage the bottom line to ensure profitability and how to monitor the overall health of the practice while keeping a happy motivated team.
