Non-surgical facelift by absorbable threads

A non-surgical facelift by absorbable threads can give very satisfactory results especially for those who are trying to avoid surgical face operation. The downtime following threads' face-lift may be a few days. The side-effects and complications are minimal.

There are different types of absorbable threads used in this procedure. It may take around half an hour as an office-procedure. The patients can see a positive result within a week or two. The final effects may take two to four months.
