

Traumatic Stress Disorders & Treatment: Catalogue & Foresights

Rory Fleming Richardson*

Introduction

Journal of Traumatic Stress Disorders and Treatment, a peer-reviewed scholarly journal aims at assembling comprehensive topics for the professionals and clinicians in order to stimulate debate and maintain awareness on present trends, future developments and areas of special interest.

It follows an integrative approach by focusing on biological, psychological and social aspects of trauma and provides reliable source of information in all areas pertaining to traumatic stress. It serves the research and academic community by dealing with issues involving trauma, Traumatic Stress, Post Traumatic Stress Disorders, Psychotrauma, Mental Disorders, Depression and their Treatments.

2019 Highlights:

We are delighted to communicate that during the year 2019, journal has received its major contribution from United States. In 2019, articles were contributed on the trending topics such as Traumatic stress, Post-traumatic stress disorder, Prefrontal Dysfunction, Child sexual abuse, Basal Cortisol Levels, Sociopath, PTSD, Psychiatry Stress, Sociopath, Psychiatry, Trauma exposure, Incarcerated, Brain development.

Popularity of the Journal can be made sure by the interest of readers, their curiosity and support. Readers are visiting our journal websites across the globe, mainly from the countries such as: USA, UK, Germany, Belgium, Mexico, Canada, Indonesia, India and Philippines for making their valuable contribution towards the journal, having a glance at the recent researches published related to traumatic events, stress and its treatment, to learn about the ongoing research activities in the related field and to refer the published content for encapsulating their research study and articulating further innovative articles for the scientific world. Journal expresses its deep gratitude to all the eminent editorial board members, active reviewers and popular researchers all around the world for their diligent attitude, generous support and great assistance during the year.

2020 Objective:

As per the 2020 objective, Journal is intending to frame a significant, unique and eye-catching upcoming issue with the sincere support, assistance and active participation of the Editorial Board Members. As per roles and responsibilities, journal would seek Citation: Richardson RF (2020) Traumatic Stress Disorders & Treatment: Catalogue & Foresights. J Trauma Stress Disor Treat 9: e121.

*Corresponding author: Dr. Rory Fleming Richardson, Department of Clinical Psychology and Biopsychology, Greater Ozarks Rural Psychologists LLC, Missouri, USA, Tel: 1-417-262-5255; Email: drory@live.com contribution of an editorial and an original article from editors for formulating a renowned and impressive issue. Journal would also solicit the esteemed editors to promote the information about journal among their friends, colleagues and students across the world and would also seek their potential recommendations for planning and designing of the exclusive upcoming issues.

Received: April 17, 2020 Accepted: May 01, 2020 Published: May 04, 2020

In quest of eminent researchers all over the globe, journal will also focus simultaneously on the strategy to expand the collaboration and association with the famous professionals, clinicians and prominent researchers all over the world by connecting them through social networking websites such as LinkedIn, twitter. Journal is also advertising itself by posting suitable content related to recent news and updates on Traumatic Brain stress and Psychological Trauma on a regular basis which may help to create a better connection between the followers (researchers) and Journal.

At the same time, seeking contributions from the speakers will also be a cynosure in this year hence, journal will try to contact the speakers of the upcoming conferences mentioned below and solicit the submission of full-length articles from them.

7th International Congress on Trauma, Critical Care and Emergency Medicine International Forum on Orthopaedics and Traumatology

Detailed classification and scope of Journal:

Detailed classification of the Journal broadly covers all topics pertinent to Trauma, Stress such as Stress Disorder, Schizophrenia, Emotional and Psychological Trauma, life-threatening illness, Psychiatric Disorders, Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder, Traumatic Brain Injury, neuronal apoptosis, Accidental Trauma, War and Terrorism, Community Violence, Mental Health, Depression, Antidepressants, Anxiety, Psychotherapy, Sexual Abuse, Child Abuse, Alcohol and Drug Abuse, Behavioral Therapy, Mood Disorders, Domestic Violence, insomnia, Lack of concentration and many more.

Thanks and acknowledgment to Editors and Reviewers:

Journal owes a debt of gratitude to all the members of editorial board and appreciates their profound support and gracious presence in our Journal. We are thankful to all, for playing a crucial role in raising the journal to heights of success.

At present, journal has 24 editorial Board Members. We appreciate their active and consistent support and also their tremendous efforts towards handling the journal responsibilities by analyzing the complete peer-review process, promoting the journal across the globe, making valuable contribution towards the journal to maintain the article flow and issue release frequency.

Journal also extends huge gratitude to all the prestigious researchers, editors for accomplishing the commitments and responsibilities with sincerity which evolved in maintaining the quality and dignity of the journal. Journal is also very grateful to all the reviewers for their huge efforts towards accomplishing rapid review process with the best suitable comments within the given time line.

Author Affiliations

Top

Department of Clinical Psychology and Biopsychology, Greater Ozarks Rural Psychologists LLC, Missouri, USA