Abstract:

Introduction: Malignant kidney tumors account for 2% of the global cancer burden, and its incidence is on the rise. The treatment of patients with renal tumors all underwent the same surgical procedures and patients with advanced disease were treated with similar drugs, none of which were effective. In traditional Chinese medicine cancer is caused by energy deficiencies and Heat retention. Purpose: The purpose of this study is to demonstrate that one possible cause for kidney cancer development could be the chakras energy deficiency. Methods: through one case report of a 69-year-old woman who discovered an enlargement of the left kidney during a routine computer tomography. She underwent a surgery to take out the kidney and it was not necessary chemotherapy or radiotherapy. After the surgery, she discovered that the tumor was compromising the bladder and she need to do BCG weekly injection inside the bladder. After, she need to do a radical cystectomy and urostomy. Due to anxiety, depression, fear and weak state she sought a Chinese medicine treatment to recover her energy that was debilitate. The Chinese doctor measured all her chakras energy that were completely depleted in energy, rated 1 out of 8. She began her treatment with Chinese dietary counseling, auricular acupuncture with apex ear bloodletting, systemic acupuncture and moxibustion. It was also used highly diluted medications according to the theory Constitutional Homeopathy of Five Elements Based on Traditional Chinese Medicine and crystal based medications. Results: The patient begin to feel stronger physically and emotionally to continue her treatment in Western medicine that was aggressive due to the need urinating through the collection bag that held in the abdomen, feeling ugly and physically altered. Conclusion: Through this case report, the author demonstrates the chakras energy deficiencies in a patient with kidney cancer. The replenishment of the chakras energy is very important to recover the energy of the patients that is leading to cancer formation.
