I am pleased to report that the Journal of Chemistry and Applied Chemical Engineering (JCACE) is an international journal that gave me the opportunity to present the journal's achievements in the year of 2020. JCACE has more readers and quotes to it. The entire issue was published by JCACE at the time and the preprints were also published and sent online within 30 days of the publication of the article online. This journal provides an open access forum for authors to report on their research results and thus to support field work. Journal of Chemistry and Chemical Engineering (JCACE) is an open-access, peer-reviewed medical journal covering research on various aspects of chemistry and chemical engineering. Journal of Chemistry and Applied Chemical Engineering (JCACE) publishes quarterly papers in all related fields. JCACE covers a large number of journals, which is why the scope of this journal is not limited. JCACE covers Physical Chemistry, Organic Chemistry, Inorganic Chemistry, Analytical Chemistry, Chemical Engineering, Computational Chemistry, Theoretical Chemistry, And Environmental Chemistry. JCACE has published successfully published 4 volume with 3 issue each.

Authors can submit manuscripts and monitor their progress, hopefully for publication, through the online tracking system. Journal of Chemistry and Applied Chemical Engineering is indexed under evaluation for indexing by different indexing sites and already index in Google scholar. JCACE also has its unique ISSN. As any documentation to be released in public cumulatively shall be 45 days from the date of receipt. The time span for various procedures, including quality assurance, peer review and report planning, ranges from 4 to 5 weeks.
